through eyes of the heart
By Lope Del Puerto

Justice is not only a matter of the law, but also of the heart. This is the message of a recent decision by the Supreme Court, which ruled in favor of a woman who claimed that her husband had committed adultery. The court's decision was based on the fact that the husband had been seen with another woman in a public place. The court's decision was a landmark one, as it showed that the judiciary is not just a collection of legal technicalities, but also a reflection of the values and beliefs of the people.

To-die-for fish sanctuary protected by 20 islanders

By Lope Del Puerto

Manila—A small, remote island in the Philippines has become a sanctuary for a variety of rare and endangered fish species. The island, known as "To-die-for," is located in the Sulu Sea and is home to a diverse and unique ecosystem. The island's inhabitants, who are descendants of the original settlers, have taken it upon themselves to protect the island's natural resources. They have established a strict code of conduct that prohibits the use of firearms, the cutting of trees, and the hunting of animals. The island's inhabitants have also established a system of community-based management, in which each family is responsible for a specific area of the island. This system has been successful in protecting the island's resources and ensuring the survival of the rare fish species that call the island home.

4 other civilians to testify

By Antonio T. Lacson
Manila—Four more civilians are expected to testify in the trial of a former government official accused of human rights violations. The trial is part of a series of proceedings aimed at bringing to justice those responsible for the abuses committed during the Marcos regime. The four civilians are expected to provide testimony that will help the court determine the extent of the abuses and the role of the accused in the crimes. The trial is being held in a public court, and the proceedings are being broadcast on television. The public is encouraged to attend the trial and witness the justice being done.

Presidential chief of staff to be axed; more changes seen

By John L. Casiano

Manila—The presidential chief of staff is expected to be removed from his position, and more changes are seen in the White House. The current chief of staff, who has been in the position for several years, is facing criticism for his handling of the office. It is believed that the president will soon announce the removal of the chief of staff and appoint a new one. In addition to the removal of the chief of staff, other changes are expected in the White House, including the reshuffling of the cabinet and the reorganization of the executive branch. These changes are seen as part of a broader effort to reform the government and improve its efficiency.

Young 'once' keep Ninoy memory fresh

By John L. Casiano

Manila—Young people are keeping the memory of Ninoy Aquino alive through various activities and events. Ninoy Aquino was a prominent figure in the Philippine revolution and is remembered for his role in the overthrow of the Marcos regime. Young people are organizing events, such as rallies and seminars, to honor Ninoy's legacy and to educate the younger generation about his contributions to the country. They are also using social media and other modern communication tools to spread the word about Ninoy's story. The young people's efforts are seen as a way to ensure that Ninoy's memory remains fresh in the minds of the Filipino people.

There is a growing concern among scholars and the public about the impact of the Internet on the future of the book. The Internet has made it possible for people to access information in a way that was previously impossible. This has led to a decline in the use of books, and some have argued that the book is becoming obsolete. However, others argue that the book is still a valuable tool for learning and research, and that the Internet is simply a new way of accessing information. The future of the book remains uncertain, but it is clear that it will continue to play a role in our lives for some time to come.

Sadr men in control of shrine

Japan may make arms with US

Baghdad (AP) — Sadr men in control of the shrine in Baghdad, Iraq, have been seen in the city since the shrine was seized by the Sadr men in the early 1990s. The shrine is a major religious site in Iraq and is believed to be the burial place of the prophet Muhammad.

Abdullah Muhammad al-Sadr, leader of the Sadr movement, is seen in a photograph taken in Baghdad, Iraq, in the early 1990s. He is wearing a traditional Iraqi keffiyeh and ghutra.

SPG buying for US November elections already over $1 billion

Seoul (AP) — The South Korean government has announced that it has agreed to sell 100,000 M16-style assault rifles to the United States for use in the November elections. The sale is part of a larger agreement between the two countries to increase military cooperation.

DOH taps services of 'panday'

DOH officials are providing health services to children in a community health center in a rural area.

By [Name] [Location]

The Department of Health (DOH) has tapped the services of a "panday" (midwife) to provide health services to children in a community health center in a rural area.

The DOH officials said that the "panday" is a traditional midwife who has been practicing for many years. She is a woman who is trained in traditional medicine and is known for her skills in treating various ailments. The DOH officials said that the "panday" is a valuable asset to the community and that her services are much needed in the area.

“best friends” wedding

Gilbert Licayan
and Liza Hizon
were childhood acquaintances and made their big day in the city

By Fred C. Santos

BEST FRIENDS turned bride and groom. Gilbert Licayan and Liza Hizon-Mittas, childhood friends who grew up in the same neighborhood in the city, tied the knot in a wedding ceremony that was as intimate as their relationship. The couple, who have been dating for several years, decided to have a small, private wedding at a local venue. Licayan, 32, is a marketing executive, and Hizon-Mittas, 31, is a graphic designer. They both work for the same company. The wedding was held on a Saturday afternoon, and the ceremony was officiated by a friend of the couple. The reception was held at a nearby restaurant, and the couple served a four-course meal. The wedding was a celebration of their friendship and love, and it was a day that they will cherish for the rest of their lives.
